DISPLAY AND BUSINESS CARD ADS – DETAILS AND RATES

The deadline is the first of the month for display and business card ad artwork, payment and repeat requests.

Advertising is accepted only for early items related to radio, communication, etc. All items must be described fairly; reproductions, reprints and not-original items must be so identified. Advertisers must agree to respond promptly to inquiries and orders, to resolve problems promptly if the buyer is not satisified, and to comply with a buyer's refund request on unaltered returned items.

Advertising must be prepaid, except as noted below; see "Payment" paragraph above for details. Late ads will be run only if space and time permit. Since artwork is reduced to 63% in the printing process, originals must be the artwork size listed below. Do not send in artwork on art board or send negatives. Ads should be typeset or typed neatly with a carbon ribbon, black ink (not pencil) on white. If used, reverse type must be limited to 25% of the ad. If you want us to prepare your ad, include the one-time cost below for A.R.C. to make up the ad.

Photos should be at an 85-line screen; otherwise, add $16.00 per photo for screening. Do not cut or trim photos or glue photos to artwork; submit separately.

If you are confused by these requirements and terms, please contact A.R.C. before beginning to prepare your ad. We will be happy to advise you on your ad ideas, estimate how much the ad will cost, recommend an ad size, etc.

We assume that advertisers want all ads which are submitted to run without delay; therefore, we will run the ad and bill for any additional work required for the ad to meet these specifications. A late ad will run beginning with the next month. "Tear sheets" will be sent only for 1/8-page or larger ads and only if requested when the ad is submitted.

First business card per advertiser is at lower rate.

The 3-month rates represent about an 11% discount, the 6-month rates 23%, the 12-month rates 30%. Placement requests: add 15% but call first. Clubs: write for discount policy.

ANTIQUE RADIO CLASSIFIED

EDITOR'S COMMENTS

"Nostalgia" is a word we antique radio collectors can call our own. Certainly a reason I found our lead article by Hank Brown on World War II military equipment so appealing is that it triggered the nostalgia of those teenage years when I wanted to get on air after earning a ham license. A quick and inexpensive way was to use World War II surplus equipment. My first piece of such equipment was a BC-454 3 to 6 MHz receiver. Using surplus equipment, I avoided spending hundreds of dollars on the commercial equipment of the day.

Another meaningful bit of nostalgia lies in my memory of a later purchase through the "Used Equipment" section of a Ham magazine. It was a World War II Model SCR-288 portable radio station, complete with a canvas backpack case and a GN-44A hand-cranked generator. The transmitter receiver stood on legs, and a fellow operator would sit on the tripod-mounted generator and crank away. This wonder of wonders could well have been the beginning of a long radio-collecting career. Alas, it was stolen in later years.

Perhaps Hank's article about the military equipment collectors and their activities on the West Coast will evoke similar memories for some of you collectors. It's always interesting to trace the threads that tie us to the past and the beginnings of this passion for our avocation.

Continuing in this reflective mode, we look back again, in this our 15th year, on A.R.C.'s first year. The reprint we have chosen is the December 1984 With the Collectors page, which includes several rare items from the late Paul Giganti's impressive collection. Many of you will remember Paul as a pillar of the radio-collecting community.

Photo Review includes several rare items. Note the unusual inside antennas submitted by Gerard Faassen of Holland. Two are ceramic fish, while another is disguised as a wall painting. Not to be overlooked is a Grebe Model RORD detector/amplifier shown in its extremely rare early configuration. Your editor has been asking Santa for one of these for years.

The careful report by Frank and Mary Rasada on the Mason Estate Auction is obviously a labor of love and respect for the late James Mason. One can't help being impressed with the quality of the items in this auction, reflecting the overall quality of Jim's collection.

Top bids were drawn by Catalin, blue-mirror, and E.H. Scott radios. The top item was an early scanning disk TV set selling at $3,000. Proceeds exceeded $130,000, making this one of the largest totals in radio collection auctions. Jim's love of old radios was reflected in his will, which directed the proceeds to his radio-collecting community.

Ron Ramirez reports on the Eric's Auction Service annual radio auction in Olney, Illinois. Here again a Catalin radio brought the top bid. And from New Zealand, Ian Sangster reports on a radio/phonograph sold at auction to a museum for over $8,000. Though from the 1950s, this set's interest lies in its unique, carved folk art cabinet.

We continue our Internet theme for those of you who may not yet feel comfortable with the new technology. You've had time to digest the information in the February issue about how to get online. What to do when you get online is the subject of this month's article. An example of the A.R.C. Web site is included. For those anxious to see A.R.C. ads online, be assured that it will happen in the near future.

Radio Miscellanea includes comments on Web security, restoration supplies, and the pros and cons of dealings with advertisers.

15th Year Specials. We continue our discounts for full-year back issue purchases, and our 15th year subscriber rates have been made our standard rates for 1999.

Coming Radio Events. Over forty radio events are listed this month, a sure sign that there's hope for the end of winter. Of note are the DVHRC meet and auction in Telford, Pa., the Estes auction of five collections in Seville, Oh., the New Jersey meet in Freehold, N.J., and the AWA/Carolina Chapter 3-day spring meet in Charlotte, N.C. As always, we urge you to get out there and join in supporting your area groups.

Happy Collecting!

ON THE COVER

Our cover is the Motorola photograph which appears on page 266 of Morgan McMahon's book Flick of the Switch. Pictured at left is the BC-611 Handie-Talkie, which weighed under five pounds. Next is the BC-611 removed from its case, and two batteries. Almost 40,000 of these Handie-Talkies were produced by Motorola in 1941. The battery second from the right is a 103 ½V BA-38, which evokes another kind of teenage memory for your editor — the fun of walking around with this "weapon" and giving friends a "fast charge."

Incidentally, Flick of the Switch, published in 1975, has over 20 pages on World War II radio equipment. Obviously, this has been a subject of interest to collectors for several decades.

VINTAGE MILITARY EQUIPMENT

Collecting Military Equipment — Part 1

BY HANK BROWN

This article grew out of Hank Brown's report on the third annual Military Radio Collectors Group gathering in May 1998. The accompanying photos suggested to us the possibility of a larger article, and Hank quickly supplied us with even more photos and information.

Part 1 is a report on the 1998 meet, a preview of the 1999 meet and cameos of several of the military sets seen at the meet. Part 2 will be a follow-up article on additional pieces of military equipment and will appear soon in A.R.C.

For those of you familiar with the terms AK-20, Philco 90 and Regency TR-1, these articles should expand your vocabulary into such terminology as SCR-536, TCS-9, AN/GRC-9 and other military jargon.

For past A.R.C. articles on World War II military equipment, see November '89, June '91, and November '94. Military equipment collecting is alive and well and ready for your participation. (Editor).

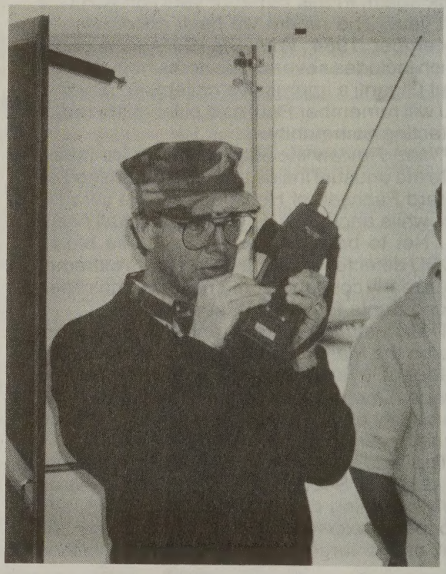
SCR-536 (BC-611) — Handie-Talkie

The BC-611 Handie-Talkie, the main unit of the SCR-536 set, is probably what you see when watching an old World War II movie of troops in the field. This was one of the earliest small radios developed and used from the middle of World War II to the Korean War.

The radio is self-contained and uses AM modulation on any one frequency between 3.5 and 6.0 MHz. Both the transmitter and receiver are crystal-controlled. Five tubes are used for communications over approximately a 1-mile range. Power is supplied by BA-37 and BA-38 batteries.

A modified BC-611 was used as an airborne radio in gliders in World War II. The complete radio weighs about six pounds. To turn the radio on and off, the operator pulls out or pushes in the antenna on the top, which operates the main power switch in the radio. A folding loop antenna, AN-190, could be used with the radio to provide direction-finding information. This photo shows Richard Mullberg operating the BC-611 Handie-Talkie at the May 1998 meet.

These are fun sets since they can be set up on the popular 75-meter AM ham band used by many other sets.



urday, May 1-2, 1998, the MRCG held its third annual meet. Participants set up close to the NCO Club with field radios operating on batteries. Activities included a swap meet of military gear and a formal program of discussions, demonstrations, talks, and seminars. A glimpse of the swap meet is provided in Figure 1.

The MRCG is an informal group. Each year, participants select a program chairman for the following year, and a hat is passed around to finance the cost of the NCO Club use and a huge Santa Maria-style BBQ lunch. The group has no dues, officers, registration fees, or other types of organizational details at this time.

The May 1998 program was put together by Andy Miller, and participants came from Washington, Oregon, California, Oklahoma, and Virginia. In addition to several AN/GRC-9 and PRC-47 units working in the field, we had a complete T-195/R-392 in operation, a Wireless Set #19 (Russian tank set) demonstration, and an AN/ARC-5 VHF, a Navy-TCS-8, an AN/GRC-7, and some BC-611HTs, all working.

Several BC-611s were in operation at the meet on a frequency of 3885 kHz. Owners used home-built battery packs using modern 9V batteries in series. To demonstrate sets, such as Bjorn Forsberg's Wireless Set No. 19, during the presentations, Handie-Talkies were used outside to talk back and forth. Signals were loud and clear.

The TCS-8 on display by Hank Brown was

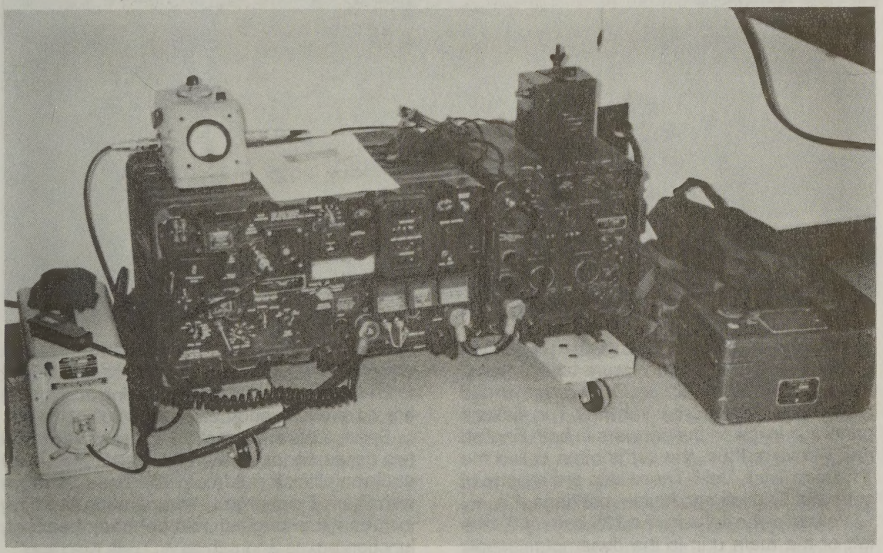
AN/GRC-19 — Army Vehicle Transmitter & Receiver



The AN/GRC-19 consists of a rackmounted T-195 transmitter and a R-392 receiver plus accessories. The high-power, long-range, set operates on both phone and CW for Army use. The transmitter output is 100 watts.

The equipment was usually mounted on a vehicle. The R-392 receiver is a mobile version of the popular fixed station R-390 and R-390A receivers.

Shown above is the AN/GRC-19 at the May 1998 meet. It is owned by Mark Blair and was powered on 28 Vdc from a large power supply.

running on 12 volts DC with a remote control unit. A second TCS operated by Anthony Felino, shown in Figure 2, was used to make several contacts on the ham bands, and ran off a dynamotor supply and an automobile battery.

An AN/GRC-9 ("Angry 9") radio, operated by Dick Dillman, used an inverted V antenna and a dynamotor power supply. Jay Coward also operated an AN/GRC-9 using a whip antenna.

Two PRC-47 radio sets were in operation at the meet. Bob McChord operated with both whip and inverted V antennas, while Dave Ross used a whip antenna.

More information on several of these sets is included in the boxes accompanying this article.

Operating frequencies included 220 MHz, 2 meters, 6 meters, and 75/80 meters. Power was supplied by 120 VAC lines, batteries, and large 28 Vdc, 50 amp power supplies. Several other items on display included an GRC-109, a SCR-300, entertainment or military morale radios, and others.

FOURTH ANNUAL MRCG MEET PLANS APRIL 30-MAY 1, 1999

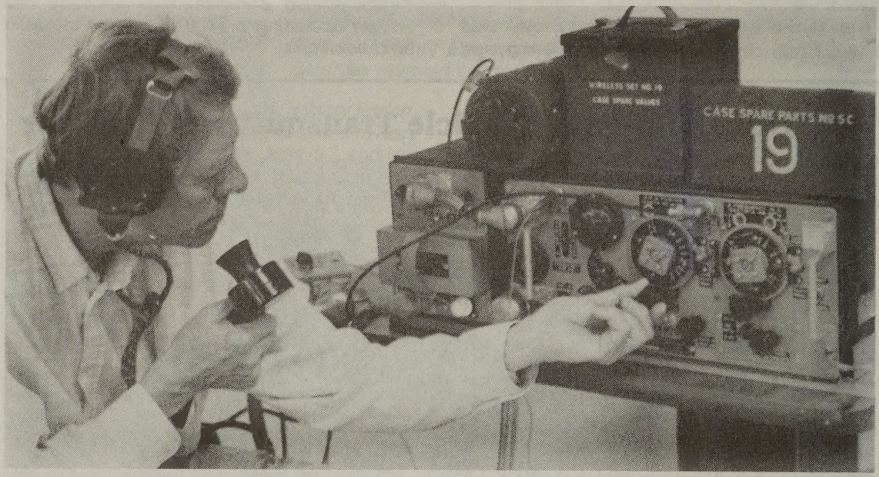
Plans for the fourth annual MRCG meet at the Camp San Luis Obispo NCO Club are well underway. The regularly scheduled activities will be held on Saturday, with Friday a time for operating equipment in the field and setting up equipment in the NCO Club.

Field operations will be conducted by each individual operating with his own call sign. We suggest that "MRCG" be used after the call sign to identify the operation. Suggested frequencies are 3885 and 3970 kHz, 7290 kHz, 51.1 and 51.5 MHz, 146.52 simplex and 146.20/.80 SLO repeater. Tom Horsefall will be the volunteer frequency coordinator.

The equipment expected to be operating in the field includes the following: a BC-611 Handie-Talkie, a PRC-6 HT, two EE-8 field telephones, a Navy TCS, an Army RT-70 and Army GRC-9, a Special Forces GRC-109, an Army Air Force SCR-274-N (2TX and 3RX sets), an Air Force ARN-6 direction finder, a Navy ATD transmitter, an Army VRC-18, an RS-6 (spy set), and an Army PRR-9/PRT-4 helmet radio set. There will also be a 1942 Ford GPW Jeep with GRC-9, running and working.

At 6:00 A.M. Saturday, the military gear swap meet will start. This activity has proved to be very

Wireless Set No. 19 — Russian Tank Set



The Wireless Set. No. 19 originated in Canada before World War II. Many were built for lend-lease to our allies in Europe. Sets were intended for use in tanks and other vehicles. The dial and panel markings on the set were in both English and Russian; thus, the set is often called the "Russian Tank Set." There also are reports of sets with English and Italian markings.

Power for the set is from a 12V battery. To the left of the main unit is the dynamotor supply which powers both the transmitter and receiver.

Two radios are included in the main unit. A small super-regenerative receiver and transmitter operates on UHF at 220 MHz and is used for short-range communications. The larger AM and CW transceiver operates from 2 to 8 MHz and is utilized for long-range communications. The transmitter runs about 15 to 20 watts output. Antenna loading and tuning are via a round variometer on top, left of the set.

Spare parts and spare tubes are stored in the two cases on top of the unit. There also is an audio amplifier for intercom use. The set shown, with Bjorn Forsberg at the operating position, includes the original microphone, headset, junction boxes and cables.

After the war, many WS No. 19 units were available new in packing crates as surplus. Now, they are difficult to find and putting a complete set together is a challenge. There are several sets in operation on ham bands, and long-distance contacts are made on a regular basis.

popular and well received in the past. The impressive equipment expected to be available includes the following: an ARC-2; ART-13 transmitters and connectors; BC-348, ARB, and RBB receivers; ARC-5 and SCR-274-N transmitters/receivers/racks/plugs; ARC Type 12 and GF/RU components; an R-390; an ARR-15 receiver; a PRC-68; LM frequency meters; BC 221 frequency meters; test equipment; and over 200 military manuals.

At 10:00 A.M., the formal program will get underway with the first speaker, Bart Lee of San Francisco, speaking on "World War II Radio Intercept Work and Spies." The second speaker, Dennis DuVall, will discuss "East Coast Military Radio Activities," and Bjorn Forsberg, is expected to present an interesting program on "Pre-World War II Trench Radios." He will demonstrate several working sets.

Breaks between programs will provide time for having personal meetings, examining equipment, and trying operations in the field. An hour will be scheduled for open discussion and questions about or comments on the activities so far.

Around noon we will have an excellent BBQ (cost about $8) behind the NCO Club, during which we pass the hat for contributions to fund the event.

On passive display in the NCO Club will be a French BC-611 HT, a PRC-10 (backpack configuration), an ARR-2 receiver with rare original signal generator, a TBY-2 with power supply, and a BC-791 McElroy tape inker and puller.

On active display will be a SCR-274-N (2TX and 3RX), an R-100 receiver, a BC-610 transmitter, a GRC-8, a PRC-10 (vehicle configuration), an RMCA R-203A/SR receiver, a C-131/ARC-5 automatic selector mechanism and possibly late solid-state SSB military gear.

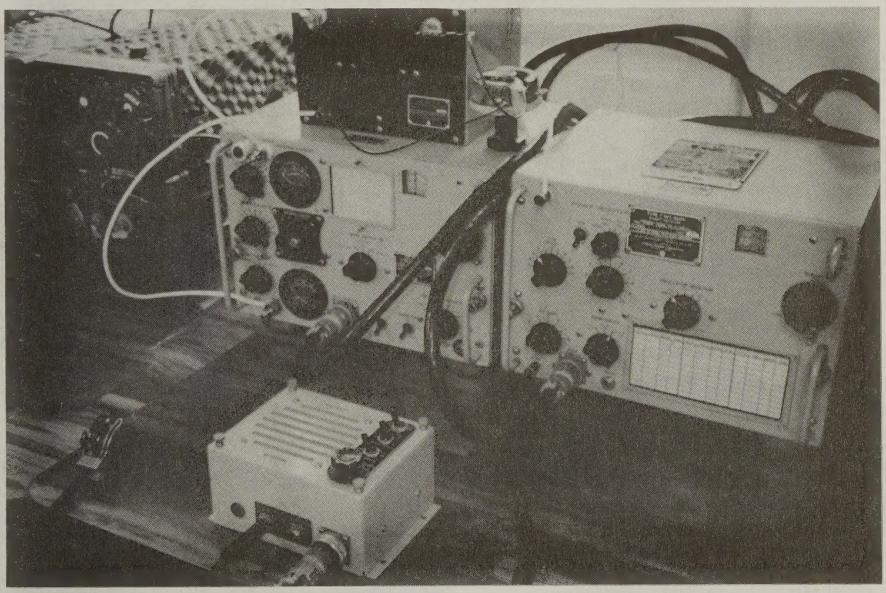
Navy Model TCS-8 — Transmitter & Receiver



The TCS-8 consists of a transmitter and a receiver, each weighing 40 pounds, plus various power supplies, remote controls, antenna loading coils and cables.

The unit illustrated is from the 1998 meet and is in light gray paint. Most of the TCS units are found in black. The transmitter is on the left and the receiver on the right. The remote control unit with speaker is in the foreground, and the antenna loading coil is on top of the transmitter.

Both AM and CW operation is provided from 1.5 to 12 MHz. The transmitter can be tuned to any frequency in this range or can be crystal-controlled by one of four installed crystals. In addition, the receiver can be tuned to any frequency in this band and also has provisions for four crystals.

Transmitter power for CW is up to 40 watts while AM is about 20 watts. Audio output from the receiver is about 1 watt.

Various power supplies were available to allow operation from 12, 24, 32, 115 and 230 Vdc and from 115 and 230 VAC, 60 Hz.

The complete TCS can be controlled from the front panel of the transmitter and receiver. A small remote control unit allows for control of ON/OFF, Phone/CW, keying and speaker levels. All other functions must be set on the main units.

Just about every type of Navy ship had a TCS on board. They were used in landing craft, PT boats, submarines and Navy jeeps.

The rig is heavy but fun to set up and operate.

We usually conclude the formal program with a short business meeting at which we select someone to take on the task of organizing the next meet. This organization obviously has no formal trappings — we just get together and do it.

A Ladies Meet has been scheduled on Saturday by Jeanne Reed. The ladies will meet at 9:00 A.M. in the Holiday Inn parking lot, 1800 Monterey St. An interesting day exploring San Luis Obispo has been planned. For details, call Jeanne at (805) 943-2027.

Bring your camera, bring your sets and parts, bring your want list, and join us in returning to a good time when surplus was king!

Bob Heusser tapes the events, and Don Jeffrey duplicates the tapes. The tapes run from 2 to 3 hours and are $10 ppd. To order a tape or to join the group, contact Hank Brown, Program Chairman, 4141 West L-2, Lancaster, CA 93536. (805) 943-2027. Photos by Hank Brown, Dick Dillman and Anthony Feline.

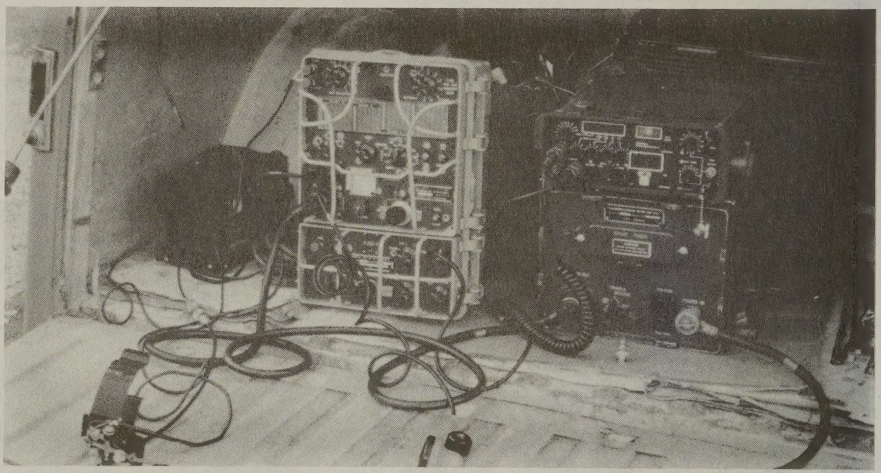
(Hank Brown, 4141 West L-2, Lancaster, CA 93536)

Hank Brown's interest in radio goes back to a childhood gift from his father —a Tom Swift book on adventures with wireless. Now retired from Hughes Aircraft, Hank's career includes working in broadcast stations in Tampa. Florida, and as a sailor on tankers and cargo ships; a stint in the Navy as a Second Radio Officer on a troop ship; and a hitch in the U.S. Army Signal Corps. His current radio work focuses on older tube-type gear.

Radio Set AN/GRC-9 — "The Angry 9"



Quite often one will hear of the "Angry 9." The AN/GRC-9 was developed in the late 1940s and used by Army units up to the mid-1950s. This popular set has been used on ham bands for a number of years since the 1950s.

A complete AN/GRC-9 is a group of items that provide CW, MCW (modulated CW) or AM operation from 2 to 12 MHz in three bands. According to the 1956 manual (TM 11-263), the expected range was 30 miles on CW, 20 miles on MCW and 10 miles on voice. Shorter ranges are expected when the unit is operated in a vehicle. Much longer ranges are common when used with a good antenna on the ham bands.

One feature that makes this radio a popular item is the different power supply features that can be selected to allow operation on 6-, 12- or 24-volt batteries. The dynamotor DY-88/GRC-9 operates from 6-, 12- or 24-volt batteries and the DY-105/GRC-9 operates from 24 volts only. The PE-237, a vibrator power supply which operates from 6, 12 or 24 volts, also was available. Finally a small hand-cranked generator, the GN-58, and a gasoline engine-driven power unit, PE-162, were on hand. The receiver can be operated from dry batteries or one of the above power supplies.

Most owners have constructed 110 VAC power units to permit operation at home. It is believed that the military had a 120 VAC power unit, but it is very rare.

A complete set consists of the above units, plus various bags, antenna masts, straps, a T-17 microphone, J-45 telegraph key, HS-30 headset and LS-7 speaker. The receiver-transmitter unit is called RT-77/GRC-9.

Military manuals list a number of vehicles into which the radio could be mounted, including jeeps, ¾ ton trucks, 2½ ton trucks, half tracks, landing vehicles and amphibious cargo carriers.

The AN/GRC-9 was, and is, a very popular set.

(The technical manuals for this set are Army TM-11-263 and Air Force TO 31R2-2GRC9-1.)

WITH THE COLLECTORS

THE FOLLOWING PHOTOS WERE SUBMITTED BY PAUL GIGANTI, A WELL KNOWN COLLECTOR ON THE WEST COAST. THESE ARE SOME OF HIS FAVORITE ITEMS IN HIS COLLECTION.

Paul, who passed away two years ago, was a friend to the radio-collecting community. Many of his sets may be seen in Morgan McMahon's "Vintage Radio," and over the years, they have found their way into collections all over the world.

PHOTO REVIEW

This column presents in pictorial form many of the more unusual radios, speakers, tubes, advertising, and other old radio-related items from our readers' collections. The photos are meant to help increase awareness of what's available in the radio collecting hobby. Send in any size photos from your collection. Photos must be sharp in detail, contain a single item, and preferably have a light-colored background. A short, descriptive paragraph MUST be included with each photo. Please note that receipt of photos is not acknowledged, publishing is not guaranteed, and photos are not returned.

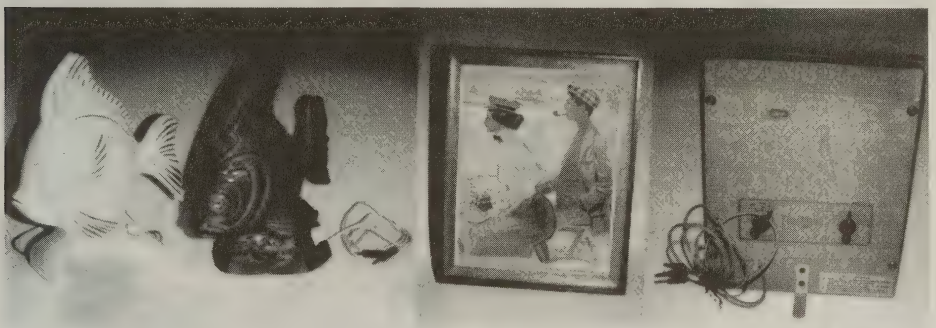
MERCURY RADIO CO., N. Y. – This horn speaker named "Grand," ca. 1925, has a heavy cast-iron base and weighs a total of 12 pounds. It has a beautiful nickeled driver and still works! (Wally Worth – Wollaston, MA)

RADIO TOY – This is not really a radio, but a metal children's toy, even though it has an on/off switch. Made in Japan, it has all the looks of an 1950s design. Its size is 4 3/4" x 2 3/4" x 1 1/2". (Gordon Wilson – Edmonton, Canada)

MAX BöHNEL WEIN – This Austrian crystal set with sliding tuner was sold in the early 1920s. It has an open-style crystal detector made by Blaupunkt and called "IDEAL." (Erwin Macho – Vienna, Austria)

EMERSON ENFANT – This cathedral-tombstone, ca. 1930, is heavily decorated with a Repwood material and has a thumbwheel dial. (Harvey Rieff – Hoboken, NJ)

PHOTO REVIEW



INSIDE ANTENNAS – On the left are two ceramic fishes, one ivory, one dark green. They are actually antennas for inside use, and have a coil inside for long or mid-wave use with radios. The painting on the right (front and rear view) is also an antenna. In the rear are two knobs, one for long and medium waves, the other for the aerial condenser. These unusual antennas were used in France and Belgium after World War II. (Gerard Faassen – Reuver, Holland)

REMLER INFRA-DYNE MODEL 700 AMPHLIFIER – This 45 Kc IF amplifier is a component that is part of a superheterodyne circuit. The oscillator is located in the main radio chassis. This unusual item is now owned by Frank Moore of Billings, Montana. (Everett Hoard – Lehr, ND)

GREBE RORD – This detector and 2-stage amplifier was offered for sale in Bulletin R-110 by A. H. Grebe & Co., Richmond Hill, New York, in October 1919. This particular unit is the seldom seen, early version with the exterior panel rheostats. (Ed Bell – Raleigh, NC)

STEWART-WARNER, MODEL UNKNOWN – This wood-cased, Deco model, ca. 1938, has an odd chassis placement. It is vertically mounted in the case with all 5 tubes horizontal, like a tombstone turned on its side. (Wally Worth – Wollaston, MA)

AUCTION REPORT

Mason Estate Auction
Beaverton, Oregon — December 5-6, 1998

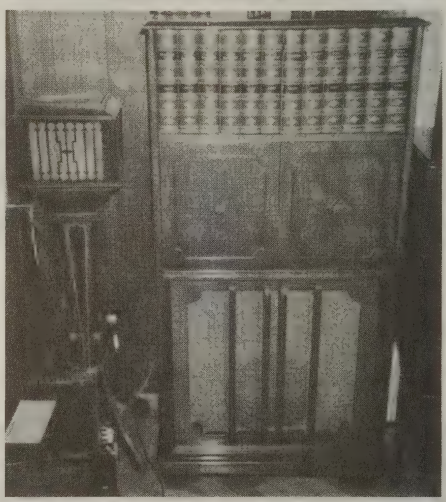
REPORTED BY FRANK AND MARY RASADA

On December 5-6, 1998, the estate auction of the late James Mason was held at his home, as instructed by his will, in Beaverton, Oregon. A preview was arranged for the day before, as only about 5 to 10 percent of the collection was actually brought into the tent used to conduct the auction. Steve and Rebecca Greenwalt of Heritage Auctions did a commendable job selling 950 lots in two days for a total of $130,000. Each piece was in good to excellent condition and sold for market or above market value.

Looking at the list below, every collector will find something unusual to pique his interest. Jim Mason's collection contained many sought-after, hard-to-find sets that allowed many buyers to fill out their collections. For example, the battery set collector could have obtained a Kennedy V, VI, 281, or 110-525 for between $500 and $1,000. Atwater Kent breadboards went for $850-$1,200, and an RCA Radiola Grand, not often seen at auctions, sold for $450. Top dollar went to a rare Western Visionette scanning disk TV, selling at $3,000.

The Catalin collector could acquire sets for between $1,100 and $2,800, while blue-mirrored sets went for around $2,000. Several hard-to-find models from manufacturers such as Federal, Western Electric, Zenith, Grebe, and DeForest sold for reasonable prices. In all, the highlights are too numerous to mention, but, in addition to the above, there were horns, speakers, crystal sets, cathedrals, and unusual advertising signs and clocks — something for everyone.

As the memory of Bruce Kelly will linger in the thoughts of AWA members, so will the warm personality of James Mason stay with members of the Northwest Vintage Radio Society (NWVRS) and the Puget Sound Antique Radio Society (PSARS). Jim was a founder and charter member of NWVRS, which has never had an association museum like AWA's; however, Jim's 1,000-plus collection served as a wonderful substitute. The content ot his "museum" was beautifully displayed and available for visits at any time. Friends like Sonny Clutter, who did so much work for the auction, remember well Jim's favorite saying, "I never met a radio I didn't like." From the time he



This Scott Allwave 12 in a Stafford cabinet included a phonograph behind the two middle doors. The dial and controls were concealed at the top behind a "library" of books, shown open in the upper photo and closed in the lower one. The Scott brought a winning bid of $1,450. The Hartman pedestal speaker, left, was sold for $310.

A warning: Auction prices are not current values. Our selection of auction items is not necessarily complete. A listing such as this cannot adequately include the condition of cabinets, chassis, transformers, tubes, the operating status of the set, and the inclusion of incorrect, restored or replica components, etc. Auction prices are the result of the excitement of the auction process, the skill of the auctioneer and the specific interests of the participants. Nevertheless, auction prices serve as useful references and as another element in the value determining process. The possibility of error always exists, and if we are notified, corrections will be reported.*

began collecting in 1974, Jim gave unselfishly to the NWVRS, volunteering his time to many projects.

This generosity was evident in the dictates of his will. The radio-collecting community had become Jim's family, since he had no immediate family. As a result, he willed that his wonderful collection be sold at auction to his radio-collecting family and other collectors across the country. The proceeds would be distributed to the NWVRS and to other radio-related charities.

As Rich Walton wrote in the November '98 issue of the NVRS Call Letter, "Jim was a gentle, unassuming, and genuinely nice man." To that description, we would add, "He was a friend to all who knew him."

From the Down Under Auction Room

BY IAN SANGSTER

Collectors in New Zealand are as ardent in their pursuit of the unusual radio as any of us stateside. We're delighted that Ian Sangster shares his viewing of a set so unique that it has been acquired by the museum of New Zealand. (Editor)

Several weeks ago our newspaper here in Auckland, New Zealand, carried an advertisement for a forthcoming auction of "Oceania" at Webb's Auctions. In the list of goods to be auctioned was a carved radio. For those of you who are not familiar with the term, "Oceania" means Maori and Pacific art carvings, greenstone, flax woven items, and the like.

Intrigued as to what sort of radio could rank in this category, I attended the viewing. The radio was unlike any that I had previously seen, and I have seen a few radios in my time.

The dial and knob layout showed that the chassis was either a Columbus 66 or similar to it. The back of the radio was fully enclosed so that the chassis could not be readily examined. The set had two bands — broadcast and shortwave — with four knobs in a straight row beneath the dial.

A friend and I attended the auction. The room was half full of prospective bidders. After a selection of Maori canoe paddles, digging implements, stone adzes, and bone meres, the auctioneer got to the radio.

Bidding started slowly, the auctioneer was able to elicit an opening bid of $5,000, and from there, three bidders moved it up to $8,000, where the hammer fell.

The New Zealand Herald of the 5th of November reports, "Te Papa, the museum of New Zealand, paid $8,900 and outbid private collectors to secure a radiogram from the 1950s with Maori folk art carvings." The extra $900 was the buyer's premium.

From The Webb's Auction Catalog

A RARE MAORI FOLK ART CARVED CASED RADIOGRAM. Carved by Massey Retter, Otaki region, c1950s. The fascia carved utilising traditional figural motifs unusually juxtaposed with a naturalistically rendered figure of a woman wearing a feather cape and piupiu, holding a patu. In the lower section of the case the speaker grille formed by a pierced takurangi double spiral motif. The knobs of the radio set with paua shell, replicating the inlaid eyes of the traditional figures. The radio dial marked with New Zealand stations only on the broadcast band indicating indigenous components. The gramophone housed in a hinged bin on the right hand side, the facing panel of which, when opened displays painted kowhaiwhai patterns.

Glossary of Maori words:
piupiu: flax skirt.
patu and mere: clubs used in hand-to-hand combat.
paua: an abalone with a richly patterned shell,which is used for decoration.

The carved radio/phonograph with its turntable bin open to the right.

Eric's Ninth Annual Antique Radio Auction
Olney, Illinois – November 1, 1998

CONTRIBUTED BY RON RAMIREZ

Eric's Auction Service held its ninth annual antique radio auction on November 1, 1998, in the small town of Olney, Illinois, which has become an annual meeting place for many Midwestern collectors. I noted license plates from as far away as Wisconsin on the many vehicles parked outside Eric Bruner's auction house.

The quality of items offered was somewhat better than last year, as a larger number of older sets and fewer less desirable plastic sets from the 1960s went on the auction block. But overall, not quite as many radios were offered for sale, as the auction began drawing to a close after about three hours of fast and furious bidding.

A surprise this year was the variation in the prices that items brought. As usual, the star of the show was a Catalin set — a green Bendix, which brought $600. Other highlights included a McIntosh Model 1900 stereo receiver (in an antique radio auction?), selling at $450, a Meteor 2-dialer made by the Radio Shop at $260, and a Victor VV-IV phonograph at $170.

The surprises? A shutter-dial Zenith Model 12S265 console brought only $190, and other black-dial Zenith consoles also brought less than expected. Horn speakers went at bargain prices; for example, an Atwater Kent Type M sold for only $40. Other bargains included a few Zenith Trans-Oceanics — an 8G005YT, the one model I managed to get a model number on, sold for only $30.

A sampling of the items sold follows. As usual, no model numbers were called out during the sale, so it was not possible to list every item that sold. Prices have been rounded to the nearest dollar.

You're Online, Now What?

BY LAURA KATZ

What do you do now that you've got an Internet connection at home, or have access through work, a friend, or a public facility. After you dial in and start your Web browser, a program used to access the Internet, the first step is to type in the Web address, or URL (Uniform Resource Locator) of the site you want to view. Place your cursor in the blank at the top of your page (1) and type in the desired site's address. For example, to view A.R.C.'s site, type in "www.antiqueradio.com" then press enter on your keyboard.

WHAT IS A WEB SITE?

A Web site is a group of Web pages. The first page that appears when you enter a URL is the "home page." Web sites can have hundreds of pages, or sometimes, just a few. When you enter the URL "www.antiqueradio.com," A.R.C.'s home page comes up. On our Web site, you can read the most recent events calendar, selected articles and auction reports, editor's pages, covers, and more since October, 1995.

Once A.R.C.'s home page comes up you see an A.R.C. logo (2), paragraphs that describe A.R.C. (3), and a horizontal menu (4). Depending on your screen size, you may see a bit more or less, but you won't see the entire page. These tips will help you navigate around A.R.C.'s and other Web sites.

THE SCROLL BAR

To view any page that does not entirely fit on your screen, use the scroll bar (5). The scroll bar is the gray bar on the right side of your screen. With your mouse, place your arrow on the bar's up or down arrow, or inside the gray bar, and click. This allows you to scan up and down the page, changing the portion of the page that you are viewing. There is also a side-to-side scroll bar on some Web pages which works similarly.

LINKS

Now that you are comfortable with the scroll bar, notice that some words are underlined and are colored instead of black. Using your mouse, place your cursor directly on a colored word and the pointer turns into a hand. This colored, underlined text is a "hyperlink," or link to a different page on A.R.C.'s site. If you click on a link, you will go to that page. (Links can also take you to an entirely different Web site as explained below.)

BACK AND FORWARD

If you click on a link and then want to go back to the previous page, simply click on the "back" button at the very top of your screen (6). You can click "back" repeatedly and go back as many screens as you wish. Likewise, you can click "forward" to view subsequent screens.

HORIZONTAL MENU

Another way to get back to A.R.C.'s home page, or any page on our site you wish, is to use the horizontal menu (4). For example, if you want to check out upcoming events, click on the "Radio Events Calendar" link and A.R.C.'s list of events will come up. Use the scroll bar (5) to look for an event that interests you. After you find the info you want, scroll all the way to the bottom of the page to the horizontal menu and decide the next page you'd like to view. Let's say you want to read a review of Marty and Sue Bunis' Collectors Guide to Antique Radios, 4th Edition. Click on the "Book Reviews" link and up will come a list of A.R.C. book reviews available. Click on Collectors Guide to Antique Radios, 4th Edition, and Dick Desjarlais' review from the December 1997 A.R.C. will come up.

ORDER FORM

If you like this review and want to buy the book, click on the "order page" link at the bottom. This link takes you to A.R.C.'s order form. Note: we don't sell every book that's reviewed. If we don't sell the book, the "order page" link will not appear. Of course, you can use the navigational tools described for more than just buying books. Use links, menus, the back button and scroll bar to help you gather info on A.R.C.'s and other Web sites

LINKS TO OTHER RADIO WEB SITES

As mentioned above links can take you to totally different Web sites too. An easy way to access other sites is to click on "Radio Links" in A.R.C.'s horizontal menu (4). On this page, links to other Web sites are organized by category. For example, you can "visit" the New Jersey Antique Radio Club at: http://www.eht.com/oldradio/. Or, you can browse through Phil Nelson's collection at: http://www.accessone.com/~philn/. If you are looking for radio repair services, check out Radio Relics at: http://www.clge.com/radiorelics/. Or take a trip to Russian Old Radios at: http://ns.onego.ru/~vitalybr/; this Web site is in Russian. These are just a few of the over 250 sites on A.R.C.'s "Radio Links" page where you won't have to type in the URLs — just point and click.

Next month's Internet article will feature additional links. If you know of a site that is radio-related and is not in our list of links, please submit that information to us. Also, we always appreciate a reciprocal link if we have a link to your site.

HOW DO I "SURF" THE NET?

The Internet contains an overwhelming amount of information, so how do you find what you're looking for? There are many "search engines" available to help you. A search engine is a Web site that has developed an index to the entire Internet (similar to an index in the back of a book). To use a search engine, first type in the search engine's URL such as www.yahoo.com, one of the more popular search engines. Press enter, and Yahoo's home page will appear. Type in whatever you want to find information on — let's say "antique radios — and then click on the "search" button, and Yahoo will list several radio-related sites. Other search engines that work similarly include AltaVista, Lycos, HotBot, and AOL's Net Find.

COPYRIGHT

The laws of copyright exist on the Web just as they do in print and other media. Unless a Web site specifically says information, images, etc. are free to use, do not use them. Many Web sites have copyright notices at the top or bottom of their pages, so be sure to check with a company or individual if you want to use copyrighted material.

VOCABULARY

If a friend told you he had surfed the Net using a search engine, and visited seven sites last night would you know what he was talking about? If you concluded that he was surfing in the ocean on a board he made out of a net and an old engine, and then went to seven camp sites, you might want to look at these "Web" vocabulary words for an explanation of the terminology:

Home Page: The first or main page on a site; usually appears when you enter a URL.

Link: Also known as a "hyperlink," a link is underlined and usually colored text that takes you to another page when you click on it. Images, banners, headlines, etc. often are links as well.You can always tell if something is a link because your pointer becomes a hand.

Menu: A navigational tool on most Web sites that links to different pages on that site. A.R.C. uses a horizontal menu, located at the bottom of most pages.

Search Engine: A Web site that has developed an index of pages on the Web. It is similar to an index in the back of a book and is a quick way to search the Web's content.

Site: A group of Web pages that are linked together and accessible through a home page.

Surf: To search for information or interesting sites on the Internet. Surfers usually look at several sites in one sitting.

URL: (Uniform Resource Locator) The Web address which tells your computer what Web site to view. The first part: "http://" is usually added automatically by your Web browser.

Visit: To view a Web page. You can visit a page by typing the page's URL, or by clicking on a link to that page.

Web Browser: Software that allows you to view Web pages. With some Internet service providers the browser is invisible, such as in aol. The two most common browsers are Netscape and Internet Explorer, which are often included when you purchase a computer or software application.

(Laura Katz, c/o A.R.C., P.O. Box 2, Carlisle, MA 01741)

RADIO MISCELLANEA

"Radio Miscellanea" includes items of general interest selected from A.R.C.'s incoming correspondence. "In The Marketplace" items are based on information submitted by the businesses themselves. "From The Internet" items are obtained from internet newsgroups and other internet resources. Submitted items should be verified for accuracy; items may be edited by A.R.C. for publication, and publication is not guaranteed. See the masthead for more details.

Web Security

Dear Editor:

Do you have any plans to make your Web ordering page secure for credit card orders? I have had a couple of false starts ordering from you via the Web, but then decided to do it via regular mail. I like the convenience of ordering via the Web, and I find that I put off ordering by regular mail or fax because it takes time to put everything together. What are your plans?

Donald Koetsch, Lakewood, NJ

It is generally agreed that the Web security problem is an over-hyped problem. Normal, everyday use of a credit card, such as at a gas station or restaurant, offers an easier opportunity for fraud than its use on the Web. Since we have had no security problems in the over three years we have been on the Web, we do not have any current plans to implement secure transactions. (Editor)

More on Amonia Cleaning

Dear Editor:

In December 1991, A.R.C. published my article lauding the unique properties of ammonia in radio restoration. I have used common household-strength ammonia for many cleaning and stripping tasks that were impossible with other solvents — stripping paint from thermoplastics, for example. I've since discovered another use that I thought worth sharing

There is a nasty, waxy substance that seems to grow on soft '50s thermoplastics. You'll commonly find it on tuning dials and volume knobs of Arvin metal sets. Heretofore, I've found the only way to remove the stuff was slowly and patiently scraping it off with my fingernails.

In restoring a jukebox with 48 encrusted push buttons, I found that immersing the buttons in warm water and ammonia in a closed container for about an hour cleaned them to perfection. What little that was left could be wiped off with a damp cloth.

It should be noted that any painted designations will be removed also, so now you know how to do that task too.

Jack Clark, Mt. Juliet, TN

Seeks Lubricating Product

Dear Editor:

A technical question for A.R.C. readers: Flushing the dirt and corrosion out of scratchy volume controls with garden-variety "tuner cleaner" also removes the factory lubrication that gave the "pot" a nice silky feel; does anybody know of a product that will relube the control for smoother action?

C.J. Poulos, Columbia, CT

A.R.C. Ads Sell!

Dear Editor:

My ad in the August A.R.C. sold all 55 radios in one week. One went to Australia!

D.L. Jacobs, Somers, NY

Kudos for Advertiser and A.R.C.

Dear Editor:

Recently I bought a horn speaker from a Connecticut gentleman. I received it damaged by UPS in transit, but the seller was very helpful in getting me another horn and dealing with UPS. I want to thank him and A.R.C. for your great service and integrity in dealing with customers.

Bob Tietz, Moscow ID

Advertiser Problems

Dear Editor:

I recently purchased a Philco 90 from a fellow who seemed to be pretty honest. The ad read "professional restoration." I asked about the veneer. "No problem." I asked about the chassis, rust, etc. Answer: "Some light surface rust. No problem." After receiving the set, I first noticed the veneer had been patched twice, and there was rust on the variable capacitors and tube cans — all moderate-to-heavy. And there were more problems, such as other bad veneer. This the seller attributed to shipping. Well, the shipping cost me $70 and a lot of disappointment. This was a pretty radio, which had been nicely restored, but it had a lot of hidden problems. Whatever happened to a reference scale that should be used to give an honest evaluation of what is being bought and sold?

Gerry Harmon, Austin, TX

In our experience, a reference scale can't replace an honest conversation with the seller. A.R.C.'s policy regarding honesty in advertising, returns, etc., is that if you are dissatisfied, contact the seller and try to resolve the problem — before you try to fix the radio itself. If you are unable to resolve the problem, write A.R.C. (Editor)

Crocker Kudos

Dear Editor:

I am writing to tell you how much I enjoyed Dave Crocker's drawing that went with my January 1999 article on handling radios. That one sketch illustrated just about everything I wanted to say. Good Work!

Kris Gimmy, Aiken, SC

Red Goose Shoes Radio ID

Dear Editor:

Regarding the "Red Goose Shoes" radio in the November 1998 Photo Review, the chassis appears to be based on Sony's Model 1819. I have that particular model, and its case dimensions are 3¼" cubed.

Clarence Hill, Van Nuys, CA

A.R.C. Arrival Panic

Dear Editor:

Never mind! Yesterday I was looking for my copy of A.R.C. in the mail. Well, I got it today. So, Never Mind!

And keep up the good work. I look forward to that book every month. As you can see, I panic when it doesn't arrive when I think it should.

Zenith 1936-1942 Serial Number Survey

The serial number log located in the Zenith Service Manual, Vol. 3, has many problems. I am concentrating my efforts on identifying and correcting problems with 1936 models (N1000-~N265000) first. If you have 1936 Zenith radios or chassis, please send the following information for each radio:

1. serial # (with "N" prefix, found on back of chassis).
2. chassis # (under chassis opposite serial tag). OR:
3. model # (if chassis is the proper one for the cabinet).

I'll compile these numbers into a database. I will reply to each participant with the results regarding each particular chassis type sent in (total produced, "run" spans, etc). Complete results will be published at a later date. We can improve the data on Zenith radios produced ONLY with your help!

Vacuum Tube Repair Wafers

These tube repair wafers are solid-state devices for quick and easy repair of early vacuum tubes. The wafer is installed by simply sliding it over the tube pins and reinserting the tube into its socket. If the filament is intact, but there is little or no emission, the filament may be lit for best visual effect. However, the tube can be open filament.

No change in radio operating voltages is required. Any number of tubes may be repaired in a radio. If wafers are installed on all tubes, the B+ voltage may usually be reduced without sacrificing volume or sensitivity. Performance will vary between radio models.

$10.00/each ($7.50/ea. 3 or more)

Antique Radio Power Supply

The H15/ H16 power supplies operates most tube type battery radios from low cost batteries. The H15/H16 steps up the voltage from a 6V battery to provide 22.5V, 45V, and 90VDC for the "B" voltage requirements.

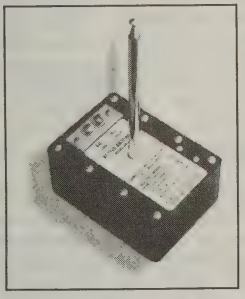
A very desirable feature of the H15/H16 is the method of switching power on and off. This function is provided by the switch on the radio. No radio modification required.

The "A" voltage required by the radio can be from "C" or "D" flashlight batteries or from a 6V gelled electrolyte battery when operating 5V tubes. When operating 1.5, 2, or 3V tubes the H15/H16 can be powered by 4 "C" or "D" flashlight batteries or from a 6V gelled electrolyte battery. The gelled electrolyte battery can operate both the H15/H16 and the 6V "A" supply for 5V tubes from one battery.

Order the H15 of parallel filaments or the H16 for series filaments.

The compact size, 4"X4"X3/4", allows the unit to be installed with batteries in the battery compartment of most radios.

H15 or H16: $99.50. Accessories: "D" cell holders: $6.00 per set. 6V 10AH battery $31.00. Battery charger $45.00. 1.5 - 90V socket $9.50.



Active Antenna

Allows antique radios which were designed for a long wire outdoor antenna to operate on a 42" indoor whip antenna. Portable, operates from a 9 volt battery.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING POLICY

ONE FREE 20-WORD AD for subscribers in each issue; additional words are 29¢ each. See details below. Classified ads sent by mail, fax, e-mail or by any other method must be received (not just postmarked!) by Noon Eastern Time on the classified ad deadline date to guarantee inclusion in the current issue. Late ads are held for the following issue. Please enclose correct payment with all ads. Stamps or cash are OK for small amounts. (Canadian and other foreign advertisers, please see "Payment" on page 2 for methods.) "Free words" cannot be accumulated from month to month; free words must be requested when ad is submitted.

Faxed & e-mailed ads: Please see additional information on the inside front cover.

When including ads with other A.R.C. correspondence, write the ads on a separate piece of paper. Include SUB# with ad. Ads may be sent in advance; but, write each ad on a separate piece of paper and indicate the month (or successive two months) you want the ad to run.

To minimize our typing errors: Please write legibly. Use both capital and small letters. Do not use a dash between words. Carefully write the following numbers and letters (especially in model numbers) since some can look alike; for example 1, l and I (the number one, the capital i and the small L.) Also: 0, O , o, Q and D; r and n; 6, b and G; V, U, u, v and Y; A and R; 5, S and s; 2, Z and z. We try to correct spelling errors, so when using an uncommon word or manufacturer which we might mistake as a more common word or manufacturer, note it so that we do not "correct" it. Editor's annotations are in [brackets].

Advertising is accepted only for early items related to radio, communication, etc. All items must be described fairly; reproductions, reprints and not-original items must be so identified. Advertisers must agree to respond promptly to inquiries and orders, to resolve problems promptly if the buyer is not satisfied, and to comply with a buyer's refund request on unaltered returned items.

The publisher reserves the right to edit ads without notification to the advertiser and to reject ads for any reason. Names other than the advertiser will be edited out of ads. Ads with non-radio-related items will be returned or edited unless the non-radio-related items are for trade of radio-related items, or they are incidental to and appear at the end of an otherwise acceptable ad. The publisher is not responsible for errors due to illegibly written ads or for any other reason. See also Publishing Rights on page 2.

Clubs: Since club activities receive free coverage on the Coming Radio Events pages, the free 20 words may not be used for club activity ads. A discount on display advertising is available for clubs.

CLASSIFIED AD DETAILS

Deadline: NOON ET– 10th of the month!

Capitalize only manufacturer names, model names, etc. This standard ad format makes scanning the ads easier.

Before writing your ad, please look over the ads in a recent issue of A.R.C., and try to write your ad in the same style. Full name (or company name) and address is required in all classified ads; we will add it if you forget.

To encourage varied content of the ads, the same classified ad may be run only once per issue and for only two consecutive months. (To run an ad longer, use a boxed classified or display ad.)
